

Extending functionality to meet the needs of today's Microsoft Dynamics™ customer

Businesses have always been challenged to improve processes and improve efficiencies. Over recent years, many companies have focused on software and technology in order to accomplish this. Dynamic market variables such as regulatory requirements and consolidation have raised the demand for flexible business management solutions that address particular needs, and enable the organizations using them to remain competitive. As a Microsoft Dynamics partner, it becomes your mission to help your clients obtain these results. Tectura Channel Products can assist you in this endeavor.

What makes Tectura Channel Products unique?

Tectura Channel Products focuses on developing products that extend the functionality of Microsoft Dynamics™ financial and customer relationship management product lines, adding real business value to you, our partners, and your clients.

Tectura Channel Products' goal is to build products that enable you to help your clients obtain the most out of their investment in Microsoft technology and operate more efficiently. With each channel product offering, Tectura delivers comprehensive functionality, seamless integration, and flexibility. These result in the ability for partners to ensure their clients develop an environment that is uniquely theirs, increases overall productivity, streamlines key processes, and maximizes the efforts of the individuals using these systems.

What's in it for Your Clients?

ReQlogic™

ReQlogic is the leader in Web-based procurement, requisitioning, expense processing, and workflow. It seamlessly integrates with Microsoft Dynamics™ AX, Microsoft Dynamics™ NAV, Microsoft Dynamics™ GP, and Microsoft Dynamics™ SL. In combination with Microsoft SQL Server 2005, ReQlogic helps customers improve the efficiency and reduce the costs of their procurement and employee expense reporting cycles. ReQlogic does this by eliminating paper-based and manual processes and offering self service to users across the enterprise. Developed using the Microsoft .NET Framework, ReQlogic harnesses the power of .NET and XML Web Services. By automating the purchasing and employee expense cycles as well as leveraging Web Services, ReQlogic improves the efficiency and accuracy of transactions while driving down cost.

Tectura Channel Products allow you to address your clients' critical business needs, including:

- Extended Functionality—Empower your clients by offering additional automation capabilities and ways to streamline business processes.
- Integrated Data—Access comprehensive, up-to-date financial and customer information with assurance of data integrity.
- Flexibility—Customize the solution to fit the unique requirements of your client's business.
- Increased Return On Investment—Leverage the existing investment your clients have already made in Microsoft technologies.
